The Harper's Ferry Invasion as Party Capital. The tone of the conservative press of the North perpetrated by men from the 1 of paper and acres of pasteboard were used in notifying Dec. 3 4 Wilmington, ern press; but the voice of the press is not enough, the several thousand people that on a certain day the Barttreasonable invasion of a Southern State.

indifference. There exists a horror and indignation low : which neither press nor public meetings can express; a feeling that has weakened the foundations of the Union, and which may at any moment raise the superstructure. Will not the people of New York, from the polls, speak some word of encouragement, and, if possible, re-instate the Union sentiments disturbed by their own people?

The Harper's Ferry invasion has advanced the cause of Disunion, more than any other event that has happened since the formation of the Government: it ha rallied to that standard men who formerly looked upon it with horror; it has revived, with ten fold strength the desire of a Southern Confederacy. The, heretofore, most determined friends of the Union may now be heard saying, " if under the form of a Confederacy, our peace is disturbed, our State invaded, its peaceful citizens cruelly murdered, and all the horrors of servile war forced upon us, by those who should be our warmest triends; if the form of a Confederacy is observed, but its spirit vilolated, and the people of the North sustain the outrage, then let disunion come.'

The people of New York have the opportunity, at the approaching election, not only of rebuking Mr. Seward, the great leader of the Ossawatomite Republicans, but of showing the people of the South, that the sympathy of the State of New York is with Virginia and not with the traitor that must meet the just punishment of his

Gov. Wise a Working Man.

"Gov. Wise" (says a correspondent of the Charleston Courier) " is one of the hardest working men of the age. He devotes himself to developing the physical resources of the State with much energy and success .-One of his schemes is a novel one. When negroes are convicted of crimes, instead of sending them away, and making, as he remarked to me, a Botany Bay of South Carolina and Louisiana, he buys them for the State and puts them to work on railroads and other public works. He says the system worked well, and the negroes worked well in the railroad tunnels. The Governor is not insensible, too, of the ornate as well as the useful, and devotes himself to improving the capitol grounds, already very beautiful, employing the white penitentiary convicts, with a soldier in full uniform, with a musket standing guard over them, and ready to pop away at them if they attempt to escape. My visit to Gov. Wise converted me (through his plain, bluff, farmer-like manners,) from prejudice to a certain feeling of liking."

THE INSURRECTION.—No intelligible account has yet been given of the precise manner in which the insurrectionists obtained possession of the U.S. Armory at Harper's Ferry. The first movement mentioned is the capture of the watchman on the bridge, who, on being conducted to the Armory, found it in the hands of the insurgents. The Washington Star says: " It is now thought that Brown and his party dropped down by the canal on Sunday, concealed in a boat, and entered the village after dark.' It is probable that the watchmen and employees about the Armory were suddenly seized and overpowered by Brown's party. How this could have been done with comparative ease, is explained by the following paragraph from the Richmond Dispatch: "It will help, perhaps, some to elucidate this strange affair, by stating that, owing to the straightened condition of the U.S. Treasury, the larger part of the operatives at the Armory had been discharged, and had they anticipated an attack of this nature, they were too few and unprepared to resist it."

The Washington Star says that papers found among Brown's effects mention the names of various persons in different States, as being well posted in regard to his plans and movements, and upon whom he might rely for aid in case of necessity. The result proves that this aid failed him. Among his effects were a large number of peculiar whistles, very shrill, and capable of being heard a long distance. They are supposed to have been intended for assembling his bands, or warning them of

A coincidence—though possible having no connection with this plot-was the stampede of 30 slaves from Alexandria and Fairfax counties, Va., on Saturday night. It might have been that they were a part of Brown's expected reinforcements. Some of them belonged to the estate of the late Commodore Thomas Ap Catesby Jones, and some to Rev. Mr. Lippett.

The Washington Star says that the negroes generally, in Washington and throughout the districts neighboring to the locality of the troubles, are innocent of any implication in the insurrection, and express their gratificacation that so few were concerned in it, and that it terminated so unsuccessfully

> I need not tell. How it befell, (Since Jenking has told the story Over and over and over again, In a style I cannot hope to attain. And covered himself with glory !) How it befell one Summer's day, The King of the Cuban's strolled this Way-King January's his name they say -And fell in love with the Princess May, The reigning belle of Manhattan Nor how he began to smirk and sue, And dress as lovers who come to woo, Or as Max Maretzek and Julien do. When they sit full-bloomed in the ladies' view. And flourish the wondrous baton.

He wasn't one of your Polish nobles, Whose presence their country somehow troubles. And so our cities receive them; Nor one of your make-belive Spanish grandees Who ply our daughters with lies and candies. Until the poor girls believe them. No, he was no such charlatan-Full of gasconade and bravado, Count de Hoboken Flash-in-the-pan-But a regular rich Don Estaban Santa Cruz de la Muscovado Senor Grandissimo Oviedo! He owned the rental of half Havana And all Matanzas; and Santa Anna, Rich as he was could hardly hold A candle to light the mines of gold Our Cuban possessed, choke full of diggers; And broad plantations, that in round figures, Were stocked with at least five thousand nigners!

"Gather ve rosebuds while ve may!" The Senor swore to carry the day-To capture the beautiful Princess May, With his battery of treasure; Velvet and lace she should not lack; Tiffany, Haughwout, Ball & Black, Genin and Stewart, his suit should back, And come and go at her pleasure ; Jet and lava-silver and gold-Garnets-emeralds rare to behold-Diamonds-sapphires-wealth untold-All were hers, to have and to hold; Enough to fill a peck-measure!

He didn't bring all his forces on At once, but like a crafy old Don, Who many a heart had fought and won, Kept bidding a little higher; And every time he made his bid-And what she said, and all they did-'Twas written down

For the good of the town, By Jeems, of The Daily Flyer. A coach and horses, you'd think, would buy For the Don an easy victory; But slowly our Princess yielded; A diamond necklace caught her eye, But a wreath of pearls first made her sigh. She knew the worth of each maiden glance, And, like young colts, that curvet and prance, She led the Don a deuce of a dance, In spite of the wealth he wielded.

She stood such a fire of silks and laces, Jewels, and golden dressing cases, And ruby brooches, and jets and pearls, That every one of her dainty curls Brought the price of a hundred common girls: Folks thought the lass demented! But at last a wonderful diamond ring, A regular Koh-i-noor, did the thing. And, sighing with love, or something the same, What's in a name?) The Princess May consented.

This poem broke the camel's back, a simile, which does honor to the ex-lieutenant. He sought out the author, and, through a friend, commenced a correspondence C. Worth: with mdze. with him. This correspondence is printed. Like a gallant but broken down old war-horse, who snuffs the battle from afar and longs for the fray, so the excellent McRae & Co; with mdze. Bartlett at the outset loudly neighed, or rather brayed, of pistols and twelve paces. But his valor succumbed to his — discretion, as will be seen. Letter No. 1 is a simple inquiry of Mr. Stedman as to the authorship of the poem. Reply No. 1 acknowledges the same. &c., causing her to put into this port for repairs. Letter No. 2. was a note from Mr. Bartlett demanding a recantation, accompanied by an extraordinary document, which Mr. Stedman was asked to sign, or give "prompt and adequate satisfaction."

Reply No. 2 was very severe, including a decided refusal to sign the above "recantation," or anything like it, and naming a friend who should act with the second

TURPENTINE-On Friday last the price of soft went up 5 cents, and since then there has been a steady demand from shippers and distillers, and the market has ruled firm at $3 for virgin and yellow dip, and $1 75 for hard, per 280 lbs .--The arrivals continue exceedingly light, and the sales for the week foot up only 2,507 bbls., viz:

SPIRITS TURPENTINE .- We have no particular change to demand from buyers has been light, and the transactions for the week have been limited :- the market closing quiet at 3100 bales changed hands at full prices. The sales comprise 43 cents per gallon, with only a small stock in receivers hands. Sales as follows:

BEEF CATTLE- Remain about the same as last reported. There is a moderate stock of beeves in butchers hands, and at present there is a light demand except for a prime arsmall lots of ordinary quality at 51 to 6 cents per lb.

BARRELS-In the market for empty Spirits Turpentine barrels we have no change to make. There is a fair supply in first hands, but in the absence of the usual demand the are difficult to effect at anything like a fair price. Quotations in table are merely nominal.

BEESWAX-Is wanted, and only small parcels arriving .-We quote at 29 to 31 cents per lb. Coffee .- There is a moderate stock of nearly all de scriptions on market, and nothing doing except in the retail way. We refer to our table for store prices, as in quantity viz: CATTLE, HORSES, HOGS, CORN, FODDER. COTTON -Since our review of Thursday last the market has ruled rather quiet, and closes with less disposition on road, joining the lands of John T. Newton and others, known the part of buyers to operate at former quotations; we as the Bland place. The sale will continue from day to day, have, however, no quotable change to report in prices .-The sales up to Saturday comprise 330 bales at 101 to 101 cents for low middling, 10% cents for middling, and 11 cents for strict and good middling. No sales on Monday. On Tuesday, 51 bales changed hands at 102 cents for middling and strict middling. The advices received on Wednesday were rather unfavorable, and had a tendency to weaken the market, and no sales were made. This morning 11 bales sold at 10% to 11 cents for low to good middling. The receipts for the week have been smaller, and only a light supply remains in receivers hands.

DRIED FRUIT-Is in moderate request, but in the absence of receipts no sales have taken place. We quote eaches at 11 cents, and Apples at 41 cents per per lb.

Mullets are in small stock, and we notice a moderate de-

FLOUR-In this article we have no change to make as regards prices. The arrivals per railroad have been meagre for the week, and, with a reduced stock in store, the market exhibits rather more firnmess: there is, however, only a light demand for retailing purposes. We quote sales of do. Apple, .65 @ 1 00 one or two small parcels at $6 for superfine, and $6 25 per GRAIN-For Corn the market continues to rule firm, and in the absence of receipts the stock on market has become very light. There is a brisk demand from dealers, and for a few cargoes of prime quality high prices could be readily obtained. One or two lots sold from store in the early part of the week at 95 cents per bushel. We quote cargo price at 924 to 95 cents, as in quality .- OATS - None received for the week :- there is a moderate stock in dealers hands, and only a limited enquiry at present. - PEAS-No late receipts or sales of Cow, consequently we are unable to give a correct quotation of the market. There is some enquiry from dealers, and new crop would sell readily at a fair price. - RICE - There is only a small stock on market, still the demand appears to have become somewhat checked, and the sales have been confined to small parcels to the

HAY .- None of either description has been received since the close of our last review. There is a moderate enquiry from dealers, and the stock on market is rather small. Last sales were at 75 cents for Northern, and 90 cents for East-LIME-Is in fair enquiry, and stock light. A cargo of 1500 casks was received on Monday last by a dealer, which is selling from wharf at $1, and from store at $1 05 to $1 10 $2 cask, in quantities to suit.

Molasses .- At present the market is very well supplied with Cuba, and we notice merely a retail demand. The sales have been confined to small parcels from wharf at 24

POTATOES .- Irish are in light supply, still we have to re port a meagre demand, and only occasional sales are made from store at $2 25 per bbl. Sweet continue to be brought to maket freely, and sell from carts at 60 to 70 cents per

PEA NUTS-None of consequence have been brought to market during the past week, and we have, therefore, no sales to report. There is some enquity from buyers, and a good article would sell readily. In regard to the crop, the impression prevails that it will hardly prove an average one, and planters state that the heavy frosts have somewhat affected the Pea Nut, but to what extent is not yet known. The quality of those brought in so far has proven to be very Provisions-In the Bacon market we have no material change to report on last Thursday's remarks. The arrivals of N. C. cured for two or three weeks past have been confined to small lots, being scarcely enough to establish a market. There is a brisk demand from retailers, and parcels would sell quick at high figures. In the absence of sales quotations in table must be considered as merely nominal. Little or no Western cured has been received, and the supply on market has become nearly worked off, there being only two or three small lots in dealers hands. We note a fair demand, and quote the market firm at 91 a 91 cents for shoulders, and 11% a 11% cents per lb. for sides .-- LARD

-We have no change to report in either N. C. or Western make. There is merely a retail demand, and we notice a mode: ate supply in store. Small sales of the former at 121 to 13 cents, and of the latter at 111 to 121 cents per lb., as in quality .---- Pork-Northern is in moderate stock, and only a retail business doing. See table for quotations. A few small lots of fresh have been brought in from the country and sold from carts at 9 a 10 cents per lb. SALT-None of either description received. There is a fair stock of Liverpool ground on market, and only a moder- MADE TO ORDER, ate demand. We quote small sales from second hands (from | MADE TO ORDER, wharf) during the week at 971 cents to $1 per sack, as in quantity. Alum is in very small stock; we note, however, MYERS & MOORE'S Hat and Cap Emporium, 34 Market only a retail demand, and small sales from store at 25 to 30 cents per bushel.

SHINGLES-The arrivals for the week have been confined to a few small lets of Common, which have sold at $2 75 to

REMEMBER WHEN YOU ARE WITNESSING SEWING MACHINES where they are put up for sale, that frequent apologies for breaking of thread—wrong tension, &c., indicate a

The best way is to test a Machine, is to see what the Machine will do. Will the same Machine stitch eight or ten thicknesses of heavy Cassimere or Beaver Cloth-heavy, hard Sole Leather, several thicknesses, and so down to the lightest Thread Cambric? Will it do all this, and do it quickly and well? Try it and see. Almost any Machine works well with smooth silk or twist, and on certain fabrics. Don't purchase until you test it thoroughly. Look out for the TENSION! This is THE great feature of any Machine. No DEAD WEIGHT TENSION will answer. There is no dependence upon the stitch-it may be right-it may be wrong you have no guarantee for any regularity.

Look for LARGE SHUTTLES, or else you buy TROUBLE.

A small Shuttle holds but little thread, and will not suit you for PRACTICAL purposes. Singer's Machines have large Shuttles-do every species of fine or coarse work with one and the same Machine-cannot get out of repair, and NEVER FAIL. We do not send them out on trial. We offer no such inducement. These Machines have been tried for years, and are perfected in all their parts. They are no cheat-no deception, and no ex-
